Dear EOCRO's benefactors.

Following is the condition of the heart patient Tran Thi Nga

Patient named Tran Thi Nga, born in 1982, now Nga and her family are living in La Van village, Thuong Nhat commune, Nam Dong district, Thua Thien Hue province. Nga and her husband have two children, the oldest one is 14 years old, the younger one is 8 years old. Her husband does not have a stable job, so he only works farming job or in the forest to collect firewood. The income from farming is sometimes not enough to eat, the income from firewood in forest is also very unstable, so Nga's family is very poor. Nga has had a heart disease for a long time without money for treatment, so her health is very weak. She can only do little chores around the house and take care of the children.

Recently, however, her health has gotten worse and worse. Even though she tries to ignore her illness to live through the day, her illness does not disengage her. 10 days ago, Nga vomited blood and passed out so she had to go to the emergency hospital. At Hue Central Hospital, Nga was indicated for urgent surgery at a cost of 60 million VND (minus the estimated amount that the insurance will pay). For Nga's family, this is a really huge sum of money. In the house of Nga, there is no property worth more than a fan worth about 200,000 VND. With no other choice, her husband had to mortgage the house they were living in, but only can borrow 30 million VND from bank. Although Nga's live is in danger, her family really has no way of managing to have enough money for the surgery. We hope that EOCRO will help Nga so that she can overcome this difficult period.
