Dear EOCRO's benefactors.

Following is the condition of the heart patient Dang Thi Y

Dang Thi Y was born in 1980, lives in A Doi Commune, A Luoi District, Thua Thien Hue Province. She has a family and 2 small children. The oldest is 13 years old and the young is 11 years old. Both of them still go to school. Y's husband is the main laborer in the family. He is a farmer so sometimes his income is not enough to eat. Her whole family currently lives in her mother-in-law's house. The mother in law is 74 years old who is too old to work. In this old house, there is nothing which is valuable.

Y has been ill for a long time so she can do nothing to help her husband to earn money. Previously, she had a stroke, so she was paralyzed ½ of her body. She has difficulty walking so she only walk inside the house, sometimes taking care of the meal for her two small children. Recently, she was discovered to have diabetes and heart disease. The doctor asked her to be rushed to hospital and operated as soon as possible. However, the cost of 30 million VND for the surgery is completely beyond the capacity of her family. This is the cost that the hospital tries to reduce as low as possible after estimating the payment of health insurance to give Y the chance to have surgery. Currently she is hospitalized and only treated because she does not have enough money for surgery. The doctor did not allow her to leave the hospital because it could be life-threatening at any time. The family has tried to borrow 5 million. We hope that EOCRO will support her so that she can have surgery soon.
